tal make at your own expense the provisfor public safety which the experts fil must be made. But not till then. Is this triding with human life or not?

Is it eriminal or not? Will any man of the Bridge authorities, to all of whom these questions are put, or nny representative of the sixteen trolley lines whose cars are to multiply dangers at this Bridge entrance, find fault with this interpretation?

If so, he had better read further in the statement made by Magnate Johnson, else where in this presentment. He says in so many words: "It is an experiment." It Is an Experiment They Say.

If that is not sufficient it will be found that Bridge Trustee J. Seaver Page says "It is an experiment."

Both parties to this violated contract say ent, too." They are right. "Experiments" between the death-dealing wheels of trolley cars and the bodles of human beings, have already shown too pining which way the outcome lies. the City of Brooklyn alone, since the troi ley system was established there, has ended

Let these trolley cars, on four tracks, follow each other at intervals of a few ing procession of thousands upon thousands of people within an hour, hemmed in the let the Comptroller of Brooklyn, Mr. Palmer, ex-officio trustee of the Brookiyn Bridge, pause for a moment from his Important business," and estimate probabilities. The Bridge trustees, in floundering effort defend their action, have only one sane argument to advance against the subway, only one excuse to offer for having vir-

Why the Subway Was Dropped.

excuse, at the tip of their tongues. It is that a subway fifteen feet wide would not allow passage to all the crowd who make nightly practice to walk over the Bridge. Such a subway might be choked, the stairs which, as originally planned,

Mr. Johnson, perhaps unconsciously, re-poves this difficulty. He says: "If it is sense of the oCumissioners, and Mr. Martin, the engineer, that causeways and subways should be built, we will build "subway." but "subways."

and companies wil Ibuild "subways." borities feel such tender solicitude could conceding that the pedestrians are are to travel by the Bridge troleys? The defenders of the system maintain H ride when they can go from New York to I the danger which the Bridge Trustees pre- adol tend to fear of a jam in the subway.

a are to embark on the troley cars will be multiplied so many fold.

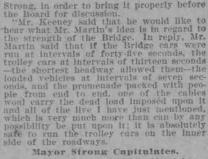

What Richard Croker, Colonel Gardiner and

How the Life-Threatening Trolley Scheme Was Railroaded by

THORN HEARS THE JURY DISCHARGED AND A NEW TRIAL SET FOR A WEEK FROM MONDAY.

"Mayor Strong asked if Mr. Martin's as sociate engineers agreed with him, and on JOB RUSHED THROUGH. by the adoption of the proposed seconded.

"This resolution was not seconded.

"Mr. Henriques naked if any provision was been underneath."

Friend to Bailif :-- Oh, he's easy!

Howe--Bah! Bah!

Lawyers Friend and Howe Have a Wordy Battle.

Led Back to His Cell with His Cherished Revenge on Mrs. Nack Delayed Spends Most of His Time Playing Pinochle While Mrs. Nack, in Her Cell Alone, Knits Lace.

Scheme Was Railroaded by the Bridge Trustes.

Her the miredees tradey ordered the theory in the case of parties said the control of the case of parties said the control of the case of parties said the control of the case of parties said the case

Resulting and the property of the control of the co

this was how it came about, A say friend yesterday morning that ad been an agreement between Mr. who represents Thorn, and Mr. who represents Mrs. Nack, to keep the control of the contro

"Good," he replied with emphasis. A faint smile lent assurance to the word.

"You seem hopeful?" was remarked.

MRS. NACK HAS "GOT RELIGION."

Rev. Mr. Miles Visits Her in Her Cell. She Will Tell Her Story as a Witness Again.

terry nearly to blows, and at one time the little man was blinking his eyes at the list of the big man, and the spectators were on the qui vive for a knock-down-and-lirag-out encounter.

Harm Done to Pride.

The load horm.

Attorney Youngs, Emanuel Friend, her liwyer, and Rev. Dr. Miles, her pastor.

Mr. Youngs and Mr. Friend held a long-conference in the office of the Distriction.

Attorney at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and control of the little The affair ended in oo physical harm, arranged for the part which Mrs. Nack and what slight damage was inflicted was apport the professional pride of each part trial of Thorn. They then went to Mrs.

s Thorn, and Mr. Mrs. Nack, to keep from testifying on it in an old-fashioned way, she sgot religion.

DURRANT SEES NEW HOPE.

Tells His Mother That "Each Delay Brings Us Nearer and Nearer to the Truth."

face assumed a look of sur-shrugged his shoulders and login his end of the remark-which followed, when Mr. led:

San Quentin, Cal., Nov. 12.—The mother of Theodore Durrant was one of the latest callers at the prison has night. She was taken at once to Captain Edgar's office,